Let Me Tell You A Little About My Self

Background

Hello! I'm Bezawit Girma, a third-year software engineering student at the Addis Ababa Institute of Technology. I'm passionate about practical projects that challenge my skills. I grew up in Congo Sefer with 13 cousins, which was both chaotic and fun. Now, I live in Lege Tafo, just outside Addis Ababa. My values and personal growth were shaped by my time at Nazareth School, a girls-only Catholic institution, where I learned the importance of sisterhood, support, positivity, and self-respect.

What Are My Strongest Skills?

One of my strongest skills as a rising software developer is my attention to detail and problem-solving ability. I excel at breaking down complex problems into manageable parts and finding effective, creative solutions. As a perfectionist, I ensure that every detail is carefully examined, reflecting my commitment to excellence and continuous improvement. I maintain a positive outlook, viewing challenges as opportunities for growth, which keeps me motivated and resilient.

Reading Self-Help Books

One of my favorite hobbies is reading self-help books. I find that these books offer valuable insights and practical advice that can lead to personal growth and self-improvement. Each page is filled with strategies and techniques that inspire me to reflect on my own experiences and goals. I appreciate how self-help literature encourages a positive mindset and equips me with tools to navigate challenges in my life. From enhancing productivity to building resilience, these books have profoundly influenced my approach to both my personal and professional development.

Learning French

Learning French is a hobby that holds a special place in my heart, as I studied the language in school until the 8th grade. I often find myself daydreaming about wandering the charming streets of Paris with friends, soaking in the vibrant atmosphere and the rich culture. The thought of enjoying live jazz music at a cozy club while conversing with locals inspires me to improve my language skills.

A brief introduction: sharing my passions and interests

Other hobbies of mine

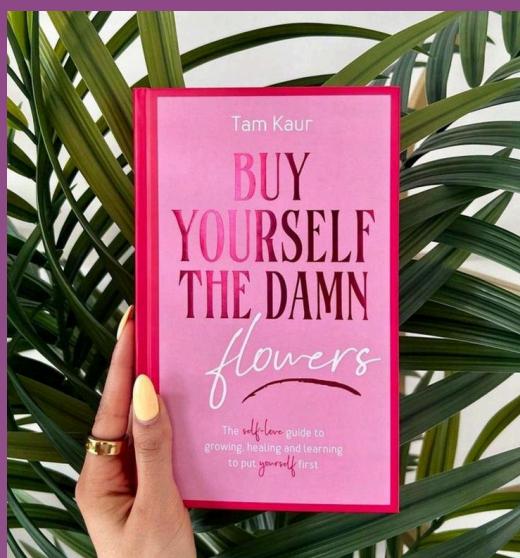

1. Sitcoms, Sci-Fi & Adventure: Enjoying shows like The Big Bang Theory as my ultimate comfort series while diving into imaginative worlds through thrilling sci-fi and adventure series.
2. Dance & Performance: Expressing myself through dance and performing just for the joy of it.
3. Animal Lover: Cherishing my cat and all furry friends.
4. Home Vibes: Embracing cozy days at home to recharge and clarify my energy.

My Adventures

A Day at Unity Park: Nature and Culture Combined

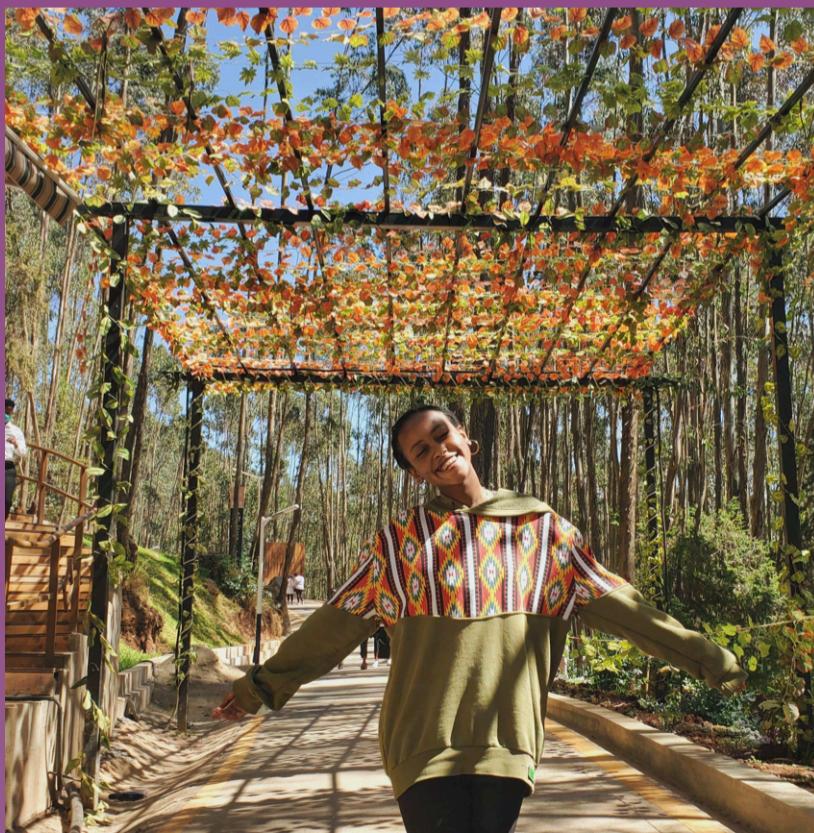

I visited Unity Park, which turned out to be one of the most beautiful places I've ever experienced. As an animal lover, I was delighted to encounter a variety of adorable animals, each adding a sense of joy to my day. The park was also filled with stunning plants, and I enjoyed wandering along a picturesque walking path that was beautifully surrounded by towering trees. As I explored further, I discovered fascinating artifacts that reflect Ethiopia's rich history and culture. Each piece told a story, connecting me to the country's heritage profoundly.

A glimpse of wildlife and greenery at Unity Park

Adventures with Friends: Every Moment is an Adventure

One of my favorite adventures is simply spending time with my friends, where every moment becomes an unforgettable experience. Whether exploring new places, trying out unique activities, or enjoying each other's company, our adventures are filled with laughter and joy. I cherish the way we can turn an ordinary day into something extraordinary, sharing stories and creating bonds that last a lifetime. To capture these moments,

A Day of Adventure at Entoto Park

My third adventure took me to the stunning Entoto Park, where I enjoyed a day of hiking and outdoor activities with my family. I had the exhilarating experience of riding a horse and trying my hand at archery, which added a sense of adventure to our day. We indulged in delicious food and even ventured on the zip line, feeling the rush of adrenaline as we soared through the air. Playing paintball brought out our competitive spirits, and as we walked together, we shared stories and laughter, deepening our family bonds..
